

Maintain choice for individual consumers. Do not allow large corporations to monopolize this essential new communications system- The Internet.